

The Chef

The Photographer

- There are similarities between cooking food and photography.
 - To deliver the best meal, you need the best ingredients and in photography, the best light, choice of subject, choice of location.

As I use my composition and lighting skills to capture the mushroom image on film, I am anticipating how to use the same mushroom in a fine dining meal.

In addition to the skills of a fine art photographer, I am a skillful chef, not for a public restaurant, but for my own kitchen creating meals for friends, family and myself.
